

The Top Picks selected from the Top US Large Cap Stocks with the Most Upside Potential as of August 06/2010 AD, compiled at www.NASD100.com

This top group was chosen by Wall St. analysts based on the difference between current price and anticipated target price.

From this list Peter has selected his top 19, based strictly on chart analysis, and then he sends this list to his paid up Premium Service subscribers every Monday morning. This feature was started AM Monday Feb. 8th/2010. The plan is to select one or more new picks on Monday morning for the Premium Subscribers, and then to add them to this list on the website on Friday morning so non-subscribers can participate as well, a few days later. The idea behind this service is to show you the advantage you have (using technical analysis) over those investors who have not yet discovered TA.

Those of you who decide to buy one or more of the below listed stocks are urged to visit the company website, to find out what goods or services the company produces or supplies. Next Google the company to see what has been written by various analysts who follow the company. Investigate before you invest! Then buy the dips!

Compare these 19 with the list of Top Large Cap Stocks with Most Upside Potential as of Aug 6th provided by www.NASD100.com

This chart courtesy R & D at BP Oil. It shows oil production to be in decline, and back at 2003 levels. The current oil well disaster in the Gulf will have a negative effect on future oil supply. Oil companies with on-land production, or 'non-US offshore production,' will benefit from this trend.

This chart courtesy Ed Yardeni shows oil demand is rising again. Most of the new demand is coming from India and China, as well as the Middle-East.

Next we will pick a few Stocks from the many stocks in ‘Best Rated Canadian Stocks’ (refer to www.NASD100.com) as of Aug 6th, again using technical analysis. Please visit the company’s website and investigate the company before investing.

When it is time to sell one or more stocks on this list, Peter plans to send out an E-mail to paid-up Premium Service subscribers, or to make it part of the Monday morning E-mail, that goes out to Premium Subscribers. The success ratio here is 15 to 24, (15 stocks are trading higher, or sold at a profit), 24 are available below the introductory price, or sold at a loss). The majority are energy stocks that represent excellent potential especially at these 'knocked down' prices.
